

Senior Research Associate

AgReliant Genetics is currently seeking a Senior Research Associate at their research station located minutes from Chatham, Ontario.

Responsibilities include organization of a yield trial network in Ontario and Quebec; installation and maintenance of the yield trials; harvest and data collection as well as repair and maintenance of research equipment and supervising of work crews.

Education/Experience:

Qualifications include a degree or diploma in Agriculture, at least 3 – 5 years experience in yield trial research (preferably corn), experience in operating farm equipment, strong mechanical skills, possession of a Class A driving license or ability to obtain one and possession of a Pesticide Safety Certificate or willingness to obtain.

For immediate consideration, please forward your resume in confidence before February 1, 2012 to:

AgReliant Genetics Inc.

Attn: Antoon van der Reijden

P. O. Box 1088 Chatham, Ontario N7M 5L6

Fax: 519-354-9390

Antoon.vanderReijden@AgReliantGenetics.com

Or submit your resume at <http://www.agreliantgenetics.com/> under Career Center.

AgReliant Genetics is one of North America's fastest growing corn seed companies. It has 12 research stations across the Midwestern United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. AgReliant Genetics distributes products in Canada under the PRIDE SEEDS brand.

We thank all applicants for their interest; however only those selected for an interview will be contacted directly.